ABOUT

Infuse is a gathering of physicians of all specialties, ages, and interests from across the commonwealth. It is a collaboration led by the Medical Society of Virginia and developed in partnership with 12 medical societies from around the commonwealth. The event will feature an array of presenters, performers and provocateurs all designed to “infuse” conversations about innovation and rejuvenation with physicians.

DETAILS

Infuse 2018 will feature speakers from many different fields and from across the country, including the Virginia Center for Addiction, the University of California Los Angeles, NASA iTech, Virginia Commonwealth University, and more.
